on November 18, 2020 at 9AM ET the

TORONTO GEOMETRY COLLOQUIUM

presents talk number seven opening speaker

Rohan Sawhney of Carnegie Mellon University on

“Monte Carlo Geometry Processing”

Mirela Ben-Chen of

Technion-Israel Institute of Technology on

“Maps and Connections:
The Cheat Sheets of Geometry”

Follow us @GeometryToronto

https://toronto-geometry-colloquium.github.io

The Toronto Geometry Colloquium is a live weekly hour-long webseries showcasing geometry processing research. Topics range from computer science, mathematics, and engineering including 3D deep learning, computational fabrication, and computer graphics

Illustration by Yannie Lo